IDENTIFY YOUR TARGET MARKET

As an entrepreneur, you have big dreams. You want the entire world to know your products and services are available to everyone.

It can be easy to spend huge sums of money trying to attract the world to your products and services, only to find that you've overspent your budgets and you don't have any new customers.

It's hard to get noticed in this clutter filled world, but attempting to reach everybody with your product or service is not only inefficient, it's also very expensive. That's why it's important to narrowly define your target customer and meet them where they are.

Who are my ideal customers? (Use demographics such as age, annual income and education level. Use psychographic information such as behaviors, hobbies and values.)

What are their pain points? (Efficiency, ease of use, time, etc.)

It's important to narrowly define your target customer and meet them where they are.

ATTRACT MORE CUSTOMERS TO YOUR BUSINESS

Once you know who your target customers are, you'll need to find out where they are most likely to come in contact with your brand, and be receptive to your messaging.

Think about location both online and in person. Are they on a particular social media platform? Do they attend local business events? Are they members of a local community or work in the neighborhood?

After you've identified where they are, start focusing your efforts there. Perhaps this means that you need to join a local networking group, open up a Twitter account or spend some money on advertising. Be where your customers are and start engaging with them in an authentic, helpful and personable way.

Use lead magnets, like videos, free reports, coupons or giveaways to attract more of your target audience to your business.

Where do my customers "hang out"? (Social media, online, conferences, etc.)

Map My Lead Magnet

Identify your lead magnet gaps and categorize them below.

COLLECT VISITORS' INFORMATION TO FOLLOW UP

As you begin attracting more customers to your business, you'll want to make sure they don't leave and forget about you.

Now that you've attracted the right audience, you need to either make the sale or get their contact information so you can follow up with the leads that aren't ready to buy just yet. You can capture leads by providing them with something of value in exchange for their contact information, like a free trial or sample of your product or service. Build trust and give your prospects a reason to opt in. E-books, podcasts, videos, webinars and downloads are just a few content assets that you can offer to build trust with your audience and establish credibility for your brand. Make it easy to opt in with the right lead capture tools, like a web form on your blog or website.

How many visitors am I attracting and collecting each month using the following?

Website: _____
Events: _____
Blog: _____
Direct Mail: _____
Telephone: _____

MAKE THE OFFER

In order to make the right offer at the right time, it's important to understand your target customer's buying process—the journey a customer goes through before they decide to buy (or not buy) from you.

The best way to do this is to observe past customers' actions and create a buying process map. Then, match your sales process to their buying process.

If you have a sales team (or if you are the entire sales team) you'll want to optimize your resources so that you spend your limited time with consumers that are qualified. Lead scoring is tracking your prospects' behaviors and activities, so you can determine their varying levels of interest in your solution. It's a great tactic to use that will help ensure that you spend your limited time on the people who are most likely to convert.

What is my compelling offer? (What solution do I provide that addresses my customers' pain points?)

When should I extend the offer? (After they read the e-book, after a conference, when they initiate a call with a sales rep, etc.)

What does my customer’s buying journey look like?

(How are buyers getting from step one (“Do I have a need?”) to a justified decision?)

How do I know when a prospect is “hot”?

What are some key objections that I will need to overcome?

What offers work to convert sales?

What happens to everyone else who doesn’t decide to purchase right away?

KEY ACTIONS IN THE NEXT 30 DAYS:

Opportunity Analyzer

Number of prospects we lose touch with each month because they aren’t ready to buy today?

Value of those lost leads:

(Start with the number of leads that don’t buy. Multiply that number by the average sale amount.)

CLOSE MORE SALES

Closing the sale involves more than just an exchange of money or signed documents.

In a direct sales conversation, the close involves clear communication, good presence and written documentation.

In an eCommerce business, the close involves ensuring that there is a mechanism for collecting payments and processing the order. Regardless of your business type, the close is the signal that the deal has been negotiated and you can now begin the process of delivery (and eventually sell more).

How can I make it even easier?

KEY ACTIONS IN THE NEXT 30 DAYS:

CREATE A CULTURE OF WOW

The first step in wowing your customers involves delivering more than what you promised. This may seem simple and obvious, but in the hustle and bustle of daily work, it's often overlooked.

Think about the last time you were completely impressed by a company. You probably did business with them more than once, and maybe even told a few of your friends about it. Wowing your customers involves going the extra mile to create a memorable, delightful experience that will create customers for life. Satisfy customers by providing the service or product that your customers pay for in a timely fashion. Then wow them by going above and beyond their expectations and provide additional value.

What are 5 things I can do to wow my customers during the first 30 days? (Send cards, quality and unique packaging, coupons, personal phone call, etc.)

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

5. _____

GROW THE VALUE OF EACH CUSTOMER

The second stage in creating an experience that Wows your customers involves offering more.

Determining what to offer and when to offer it involves a bit of strategy. The easiest way to do this is to determine how you can help your target customers today and in the future. The solution doesn't have to be your specific product or service nor does it have to result in a sale. Your solution can be as easy as providing tips and resources related to their inquiries. Here are three ways to tactfully increase your revenue while continuing to be helpful:

- ✓ Cross sell: Customers aren't always aware of the perfect product or service pairings, and may be willing to purchase related items that enhance their experience.
- ✓ Upsell: Listen to your customers and try to understand their needs. They might be willing to pay extra for special treatment, warranties or monthly programs.
- ✓ New products: Remember to help your customers by identifying things that will enhance their lives by notifying them of new products or services.

What products do I offer that are often purchased together, or that customers would consider a must-have based on their previous buying history? (Accessories, software)

What are my upsell opportunities? What can I offer as a higher level of service? (Warranty, special treatment, etc.)

What do I do to encourage existing customers to buy new products?

Lifetime value of a customer:

(Review the number of 1 time customers and multiply that by the average amount spent by the repeat customer.)

GROW SALES WITH REFERRALS

Asking for referrals and rewarding customers who refer your business to their friends and networks completes the final stage of the Wow experience.

Effective referral programs are a big win for small businesses because they help customers develop habits that include your company. Consider establishing a referral program with rewards that are easy to obtain. Providing small gift cards, discounts or movie tickets for referrals is a great way to demonstrate your appreciation.

When a customer is happy, how can I ask for referrals, repeat sales or testimonials? (Surveys, cards, etc.)
